Rules of Publishing

First:

The journal of the Islamic and Arabic Studies College publishes scientific research in both the Arabic and English languages. The research presented to the journal must be original, genuine in its theme, objective in nature, comprehensive, of academic novelty and depth, and does not contradict Islamic values and principles. The research papers will be published after being evaluated by referees from outside the editorial board, according to the standard academic rules.

Second:

All research work presented for publication in the journal must comply with the following conditions:

1. The research work should not have been previously published by any other institution, and is not derived from any other research study or treatise through which the researcher has acquired an academic degree. This is to be certified by an affidavit of undertaking duly signed by the researcher which is sent to the journal with the research paper.
2. The researcher can not publish his research elsewhere or present it for publication unless he receives a written permission from the editor in chief of the journal.
3. Research which embodies Quranic quotes or Prophetic sayings (Ahadith) is required to be properly marked and foot-noted.
4. The research must be computer typed using Windows 2000, double spaced, font size 17, with a minimum of Fifteen (15) pages (about 5000 words) and a maximum of 40 pages (about 10,000 words), and sent in with 4 hard copies of the research along with a CD or a floppy disk. The name of the researcher must be written in Arabic and English along with an autobiographical account, including his/her name, academic status, position, place of work and full address.
5. The research must include an abstract, in the Arabic and English languages that should not exceed 200 words.
6. Tables, figures and additional illustrations referred to should be consecutively numbered and presented in the appropriate sections of the research.
7. The following scientific method of documentation should be used:
  - * The Sources and the text - citation in the research are referred to by Serial numbers put upwards between brackets (e.g. <sup>(1)(2)</sup>) and to be shown in detail at the bottom of each page as it appears in the core of the research.
  - * Explanations and additional notes are distinguished by the symbol (*).
  - * The Sources and references are printed at the end of the research and are arranged in alphabetical order according to the book title followed by the name of the author and any additional informations.
